Welcome 2013.

I was somewhat concerned about the approaching 2013, with the number 13 generally perceived negatively. I then did a study of the number and found that it contains components that speaks of the promises and character of our Lord.

13 is an interesting number. On the one hand it represents contention, arguing and discord. We know that the sum of the name of Joktan (who is mentioned in the Old Testament) is 169 (13x13). He had 13 sons whose names also had a sum which is a multiplication of 13. The family was characterised by contention, arguing and discord. The word "leaven" which speaks of sin in the life of a person, is also used 13 times in the New Testament. With this in mind, 2013 did not seem to bode well!

Something in the back of my mind told me that this is not the whole story, as we know that the enemy goes about to try and pervert that which the Lord intends for good.

For example:

The name of God (Jehova or JHVH) has a sum of 26, which is a multiplication of 13. The number for healing, 39, is also a multiplication of 13. This made me realise that this is not the end of the story, as God (26) is Love, Unity, Life, Grace, Mercy and many other good things. Jesus also received 39 stripes for our healing and we can boldly proclaim that "by His stripes we were healed!"

For believers 13 therefore represents love [¹² *Hate stirs up trouble, but love forgives all offenses - GNT (Prov 10.12) and unity [The Lord ... is our God; or *The Lord, our God, is the only God; or The Lord our God is one (Deu 6.4) in my father (Ex 15.2). I therefore declare 2013 the year of love and unity in Christ. May His love fill you and be your guide in 2013.

I can therefore embrace 2013 in the knowledge that this year is out of the Hand of God. Irrespective of the circumstances I find myself in, I need to embrace the love that Jesus has poured out into my heart and walk in union with Him. I need to live my life with the knowledge that He abides within me and therefore I need to abide within Him, to ensure that I can flow in the blessings of His love. I need to express this love in my home, workplace, ministry and every place that I find myself in humility and in obedience. Therefore I declare 2013 to be the year of love and unity and to receive the blessings that the Lord commands upon me.
